Clean Up Green Up

☐ The Department of City Planning is proposing new development standards that aim to reduce cumulative health impacts resulting from incompatible land uses. The Clean Up Green Up ordinance will create new development standards for three areas: Boyle Heights, Wilmington and Pacoima. The development standards include site planning, setbacks, enclosures and landscape buffers. The ordinance also establishes a new Conditional Use process for asphalt manufacturing and refinery facilities. Join us to learn more about this new zone that could be precedent setting for the entire City of Los Angeles.

Hybrid Industrial Live/Work Zone

☐ The Department of City Planning is developing a new zone to regulate a mix of uses that includes light industrial and live/work uses. At this point the proposed zone can only be used in the Central City North and Northeast Los Angeles Community Plan areas and does not rezone any parcels. The Hybrid Industrial Live/Work Zone would regulate permitted uses and set development standards that are intended to maintain the artistic and industrial function of hybrid areas. As proposed the zone will only allow new live/work units that are built to commercial standards with the provision of community benefits. Meet with City Planning representatives to provide input on this zone that will directly impact the Arts District in Downtown Los Angeles.
